

Creating our World

Mushiba: The global world is a result of the local worlds of each of us and reflects both harmony and conflict. The way in which we frame our lesson learning is part of the grand plan by The Universal Consciousness that will then impact the entire earth plane.

During his class, Living in Your World as a Spiritual Being, Waith counseled:

Waith: “You all have lessons to learn. Some are very similar to another in terms of the title of the lesson ~ patience, for example. However, the path that you have chosen will determine the world that you create for Self. So, your lessons, actually, then create your world.”

It seems to me that if we want greater harmony in the world, we need to bring greater harmony within Self.
