

Astrological Energy Flows

Mushiba: “What’s your sign?” is a question most of us have been asked ~ and what many of us have asked of another. When the questioner hears the answer, there is usually some discussion about what that particular astrological sign means and the characteristics it embraces. While those descriptions are usually quite general, they do seem to indicate a predisposition to certain attitudes and behaviors held by individuals.

During a public session, Waith was asked if there was anything significant about the astrological signs. His response was:

Waith: “Energies come onto the earth plane with certain planetary alignments ~ as you call it, astrological signs ~ because certain lessons are designed for particular alignments. It is the reason there is such variation in the alignment of the earth plane planets, so as to give the opportunities to move through the flow that occurs from each of the alignment signs and to experience the energy differences.”

Since I was young, I have been fascinated with the range of emotions and behaviors covered by astrology, thinking that there must be something to this study of the alignment of planets. Waith has confirmed my belief ~ it is all about energy flow ~ now, that makes sense to me, Virgo that I am!
